Somewhere within the walls of South Rowan . . .

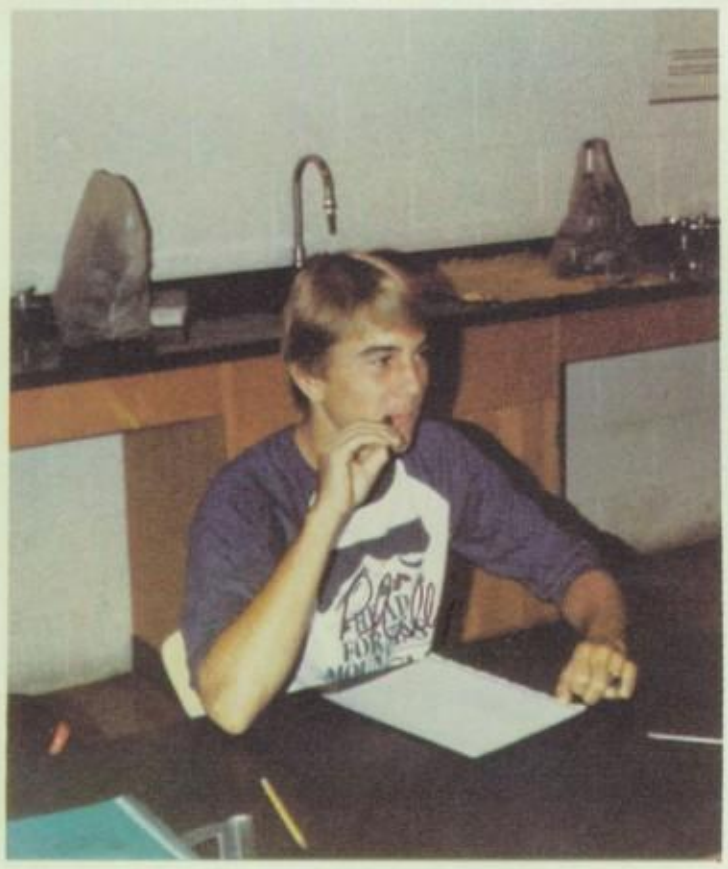
stands the door
to our hopes
and our dreams.

Paula

The times we had, the magic we shared . . .

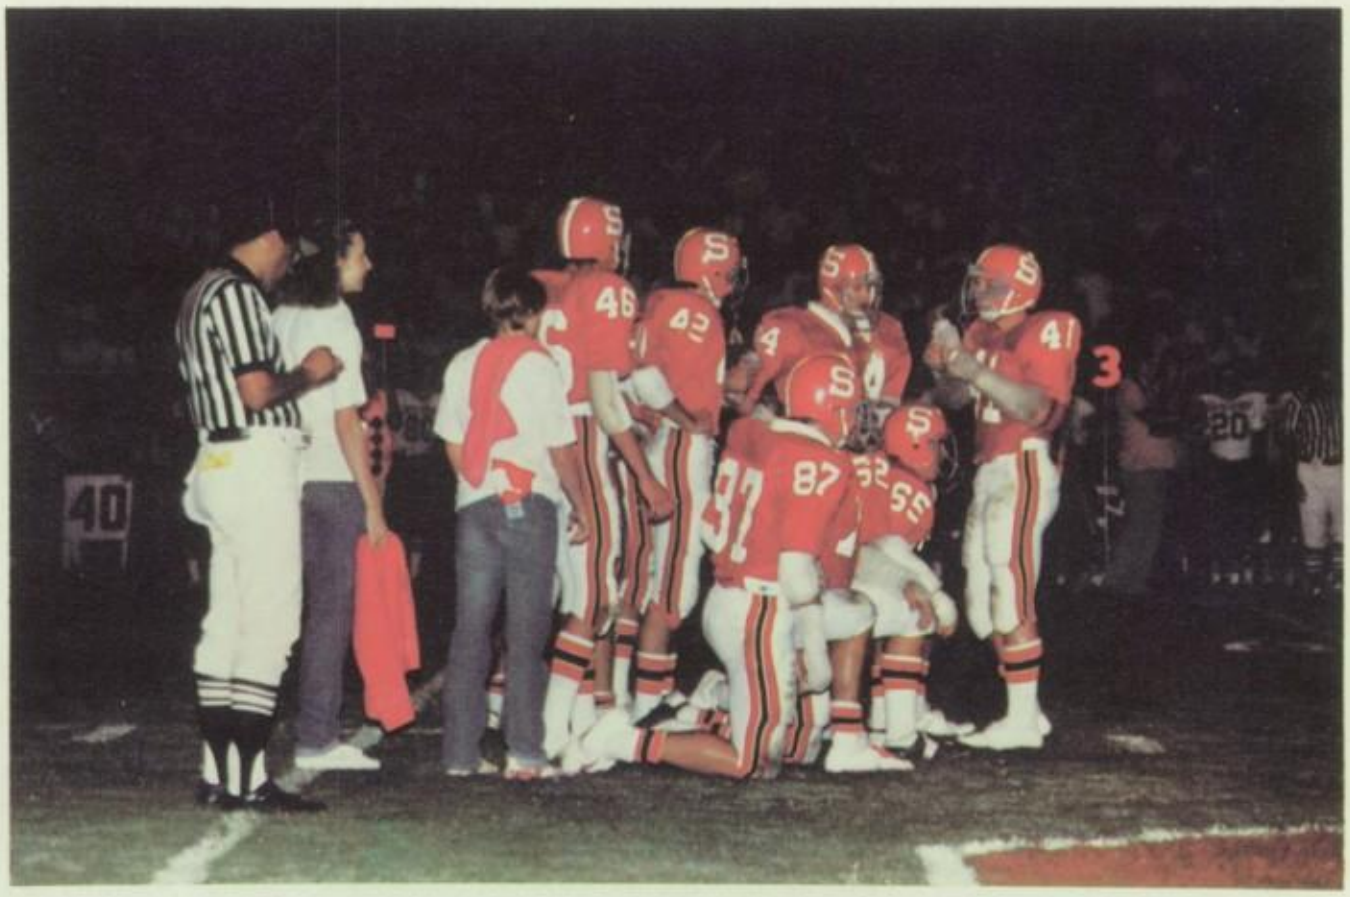
will remain a part of us forever.

There were times for us to stand up and cheer . . .



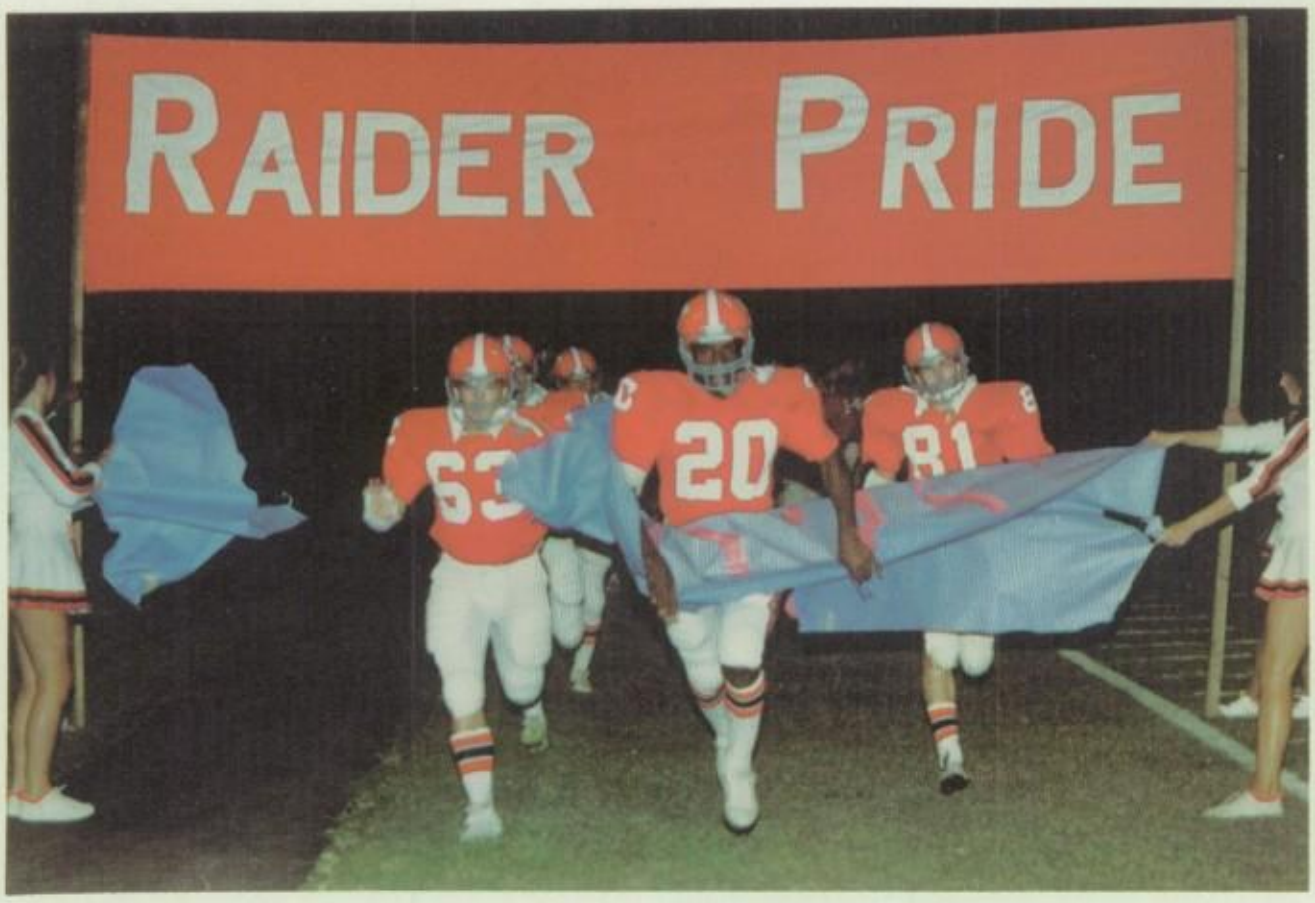
and then there were times just to sit and think.

The year comes to a close in the usual fashion . . .



But we have faith . . .

That the wisdom and memories we have gathered . . .



Mrs Helms

will stay with us throughout our lives.

LEADERS

Teachers Lead the Way

As the principal of South Rowan Senior High School, offering students the best possible chance for achievement is a never-ending task. The solutions offered must be as up-to-date, concise, and functional as the questions posed by the faculty and students.

South Rowan, through the careful blending of academics, athletics, desire for achievement, agony of failure, responsibility, understanding, pride, and self-esteem, prepares students to step, not up but into, an adult society.

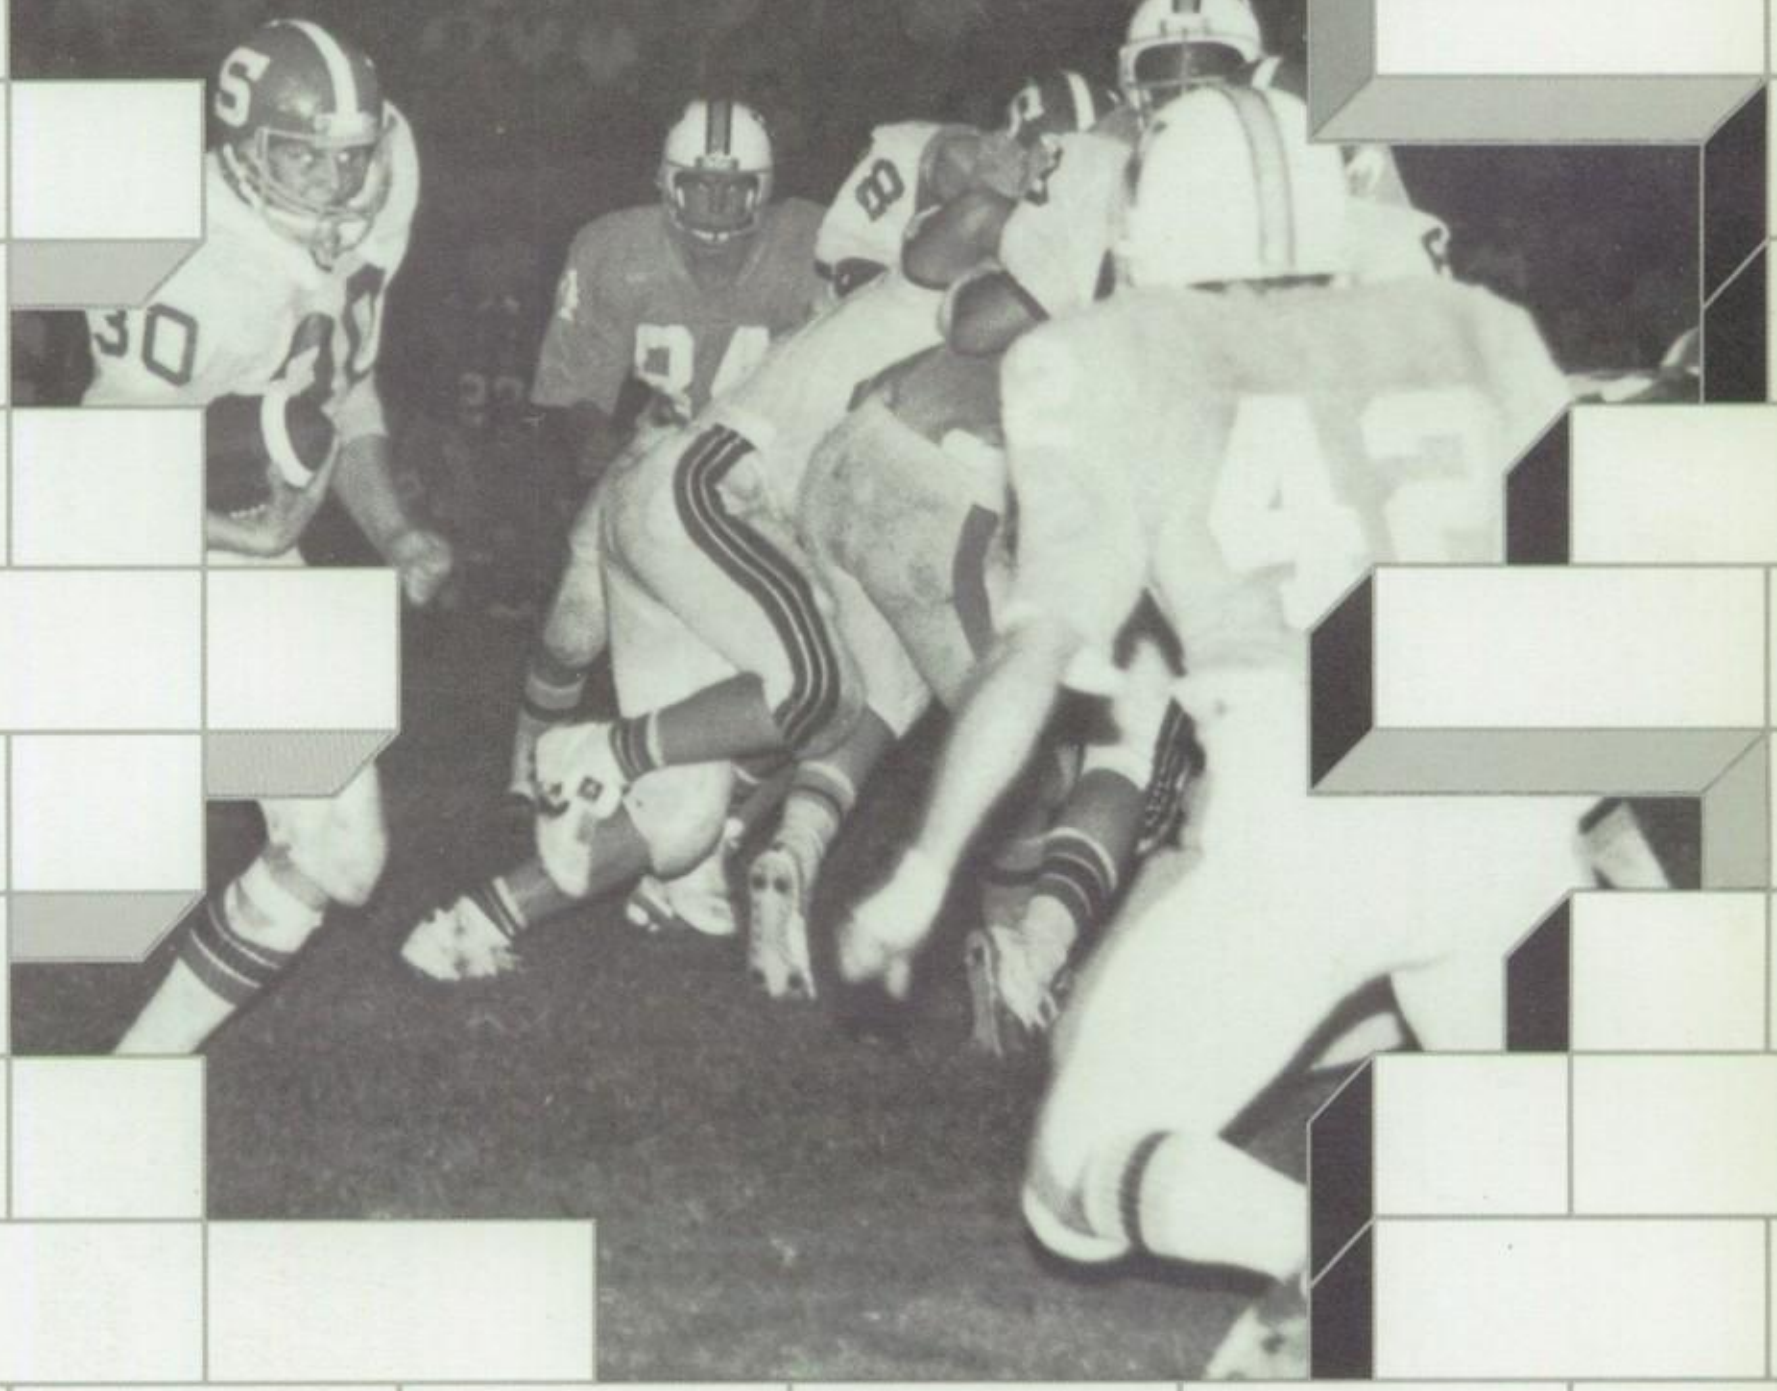
COMPETITION



JV Cheerleaders Show Enthusiasm

Top: JV cheerleaders lead cheers during a pep rally. Left: Lori tries to cheer up the JV mascot. Above: Cheerleaders show the Raider teams how to flatten their opponents.

Ms. Woods
Advisor

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders got off to a rigorous start with summer practices, preparing for camp and the school year. None of the work was in vain. They were challenged at camp, won many ribbons, and captured third place in their division in Grand Champ Competition at UNC-Chapel Hill. Still working hard, but having fun, they began the school year and cheered the athletes to victories. Kandie Barnes and Gidget Jones served as chief and co-chief for football season. Jane Wise and Wendy Lambert served as chief and co-chief during basketball.

The cheerleaders will always have fond memories of sore muscles, cookouts, falling pyramids, victories and defeats, falling-outs and falling-ins, and, foremost, of being a "Raider" cheerleader.

Varsity Cheerleaders Sparkle and Shine

Ms. Terry
Advisor

Norma Freeze

Paula Jones

The Varsity Cheerleaders attended camp at Chapel Hill where they received the Randy Neill Award for Excellence, the highest spirit award, the Miss Piggy Award (for eating the most popsicles), and many ribbons for excellence.

During football season, the cheerleaders were kept busy selling ribbons and towels, not to mention all the special treats they gave the football players. Some of the treats included a surprise breakfast before school, cakes and cupcakes after school, watermelon after practice, spirit pillow cases, and SPC champs T-shirts and signs. Also, they made posters for every game, blew up over 2,000 helium balloons, and continually generated spirit and enthusiasm for the team and the fans.

Varsity Cheerleaders received the honor of cheering at championship games, and marching in Christmas parades. Football and basketball overlapped, making everything a little bit hectic.

At halftimes in basketball season, the cheerleaders performed dances to "Stroke," "On Broadway," "High School Dance," and many more.

During football season, Norma Freeze acted as chief and Brenda Meacham was co-chief. During basketball season, Norma was again the chief, Paula Jones and Kim Roseman acted as co-chiefs.

The mighty offense assists Michael in gaining yardage.

The 1981 football season will go down as one of the finest in South Rowan history. The Raiders were ranked fourth in the state in the final AP poll. They averaged 24.7 points per game offensively while yielding only 5.4 points per game defensively. The Raiders compiled an 8-0 SPC record, a 10-2 overall record, and set a new school record of ten wins in a row as they won the SPC Conference Championship. Their appearance in the State Playoffs was their sixth in the past seven years.

The fine winning tradition was very much present during the '81 season, and all of us are assured that Raider football will always be a program of which we can be very proud.

This year, the Raider wrestlers went for their fourth consecutive SPC championship. Wrestling, which is becoming more and more popular all over the nation, is probably the most demanding sport at South Rowan. Although it pits one individual against another, the sport is actually won by a team working together to score the most total points. Over the Christmas holidays, the wrestlers won the Pfeiffer Invitational Tournament for the second time. The conference tournament was held on February 6. The Raiders had six lettermen returning.

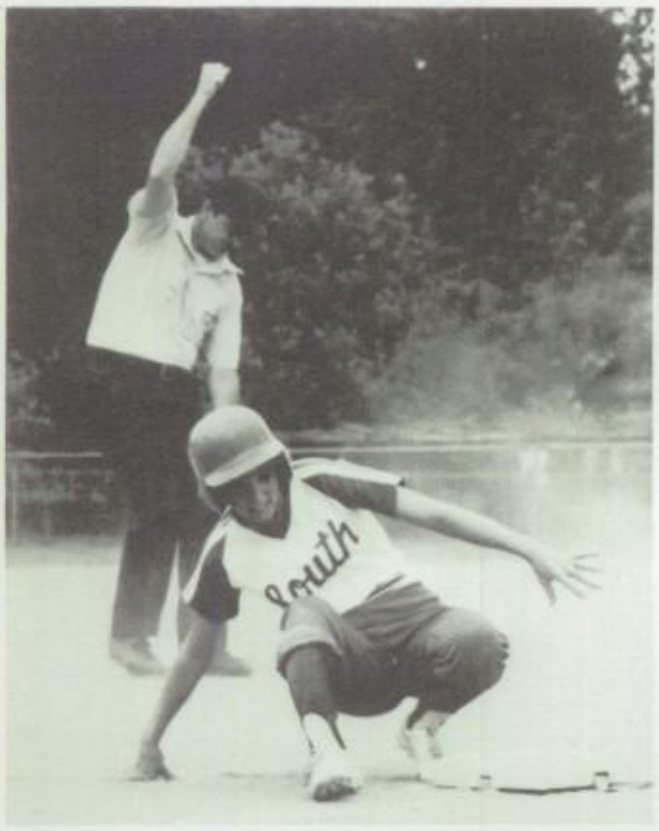
Coach Corriher

The JV Girls' Basketball Team was an inexperienced but determined group of players. The success of the team was accomplished by its playing good defense and looking for a good shot. True Raider spirit was always shown in the desire to win and in the hard work as well as in the good sportsmanship shown.

Raider Girls Cop Crown



The 1981 Softball Team experienced a year of firsts. The team comprised a 12-4 record and tied with East Rowan to become SPC Co-Champions which had never before been done. Also, more players were placed on the All-Conference teams than ever before. All-Conference First Team selections were Renee Miller and Anita Bentley. All-Conference Second Team includes Beth Baker, Tina Yost, Genia Hoffner, and Angie Clontz. Coach Pardew was SPC Coach-of-the-Year. The Raiders lost in the first round of the state playoffs to South Mecklenburg. To complete their year of firsts, the Raiders received new uniforms.

The 1981 season was a rebuilding one for the boys' tennis team. Out of the eleven members on the team, only one was a senior. The team opened its season against Forest Hills and lost 2-6, but it came back against East Rowan 5-4. Close matches followed as the team lost to Albemarle 4-5 and to Northwest Cabarrus 3-6. The boys then beat North Stanley 6-3, lost to Concord 1-8, and won against Central Cabarrus 6-3 and Sun Valley (forfeit). The team closed the season with a 4-4 record. The Most Valuable Player Award was given to Phillip Whicker and the Most Improved Player Award went to Tim Pate.

The 1981 baseball season ended with the Raiders compiling an overall 12-7 record and earning third place in the SPC. The Raiders were led by Sam Moore, named the SPC Player-of-the-Year, at the plate as well as on the mound. Sam hit .319 with five home runs and 27 runs batted in. He also set a school record by striking out 114 opponents in 68 2/3 innings. Tommy Barnhardt was the team's leading hitter with a .429 average, including two homeruns and 22 RBI's.

Magazine Sale Is Big Success

This year's magazine sale, which began September 3 and ended September 21, 1981, was a great success. With a total of $26,397.56, the juniors and seniors of this year raised more money than any other class in South's history. Darrell Blackwell, selling $618.17 in magazines, was the top salesman. Beth Baker was second with $457.07 in sales. Leslie Huneycutt was close third with $422.17.

The top-selling class, turning in a total of $2,213.08, was Mrs. Cockman's first period English III. Four classes had 100% participation. They were Mrs. Faggart's first period, English IV, and Mrs. Wise's second, third, and fourth periods — all English IV.

Money raised from this magazine sale is used to help finance the annual, the Junior-Senior Prom, and other school-related activities.

Thanks to everyone who helped to make our magazine sale a big success this year.

Anchor Club

The Anchor Club is a service club sponsored by the China Grove-Landis Pilot Club. A special ceremony to induct the new officers and new club members is conducted at the beginning of the year by the Pilot Club. This year, the Anchor Club has sponsored bake sales and has sold silk roses on Valentine's Day to raise money for their many activities.

The club members have learned the real meaning of Thanksgiving and Christmas by adopting a needy family. On Thanksgiving, they provided the family with food, and on Christmas, they presented gifts to the family. The Anchor Club ended its year with the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Wendy and Mrs. Woodall share a passage from a book.

The Bible Club, now in its second year, has become a popular organization. Its meetings consisted of fellowship with other Christian students. Members sang, got acquainted, and discussed religious cultures. They also went caroling at Christmas to various nursing homes and visited other shut-ins.

The Bible Club is always open to any student of South Rowan at any time.

Tomorrow's Business Leaders

The Tomorrow's Business Leaders were very active this year. The entire club was involved in a fundraising project for the first time and, from the profits, donated a paper cutter and hole puncher to the school to be used in the teacher's work room. The hard-working club officers prepared two outstanding bulletin boards for the school, receiving the award of Bulletin Board of the Month. In addition, the club remained active, using community speakers and programs for its monthly meetings.

Mrs. Karen Drye Mr. Charles Hill
Advisors

DECA, the Distributive Education Club of America, allows students to broaden their horizons by offering on-the-job experience. Students learn skills such as advertising and basic salesmanship. These students attend morning classes and work in the afternoons.

DECA was instrumental in providing happier Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays for two needy families. In addition to these activities, the members entertained their employers at their annual "Bosses' Banquet."

Emergency Brigade

Mr. Trexler
Advisor

The Emergency Brigade was organized several years ago in response to a need for persons to be trained to handle emergency situations. As a part of their training, members visited police and fire departments, reviewed films on safety related subjects, and patrolled student activities. Several members of the club also have additional experiences through work with the Rescue Squad and as members of the Explorer Post.

Pictured at right are Kim Beaver, captain; Susan Walker, treasurer; and Angie Cole, secretary. Above: Mr. Trexler explains proper materials to use in some emergency situations.

The South Rowan Chapter of the Future Farmers of America is a part of the national organization. The members participated in chapter activities which included a parent-member banquet, a "pig pickin," a fruit sale, and a camping trip as well as in many other activities. This club is active all seasons of the year.

Future Homemakers of America

The Future Homemakers of America (FHA) was organized for active young women. The purpose of this organization is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living through organized programs.

Members helped to achieve these purposes by taking part in various activities. They visited nursing homes, attended state conventions, and learned from such programs as flower arranging, fabrics and fashions, food and hair care demonstrations.

Angela Diggs concentrates on a special project for the FHA.

Officers: Genia Neely, treasurer; Alice Basinger, president; Robert Cox, vice-president; Susan Shinn, reporter.

The French Club studied countries with different customs, cultures, and languages. The activities for the year, together with the enthusiastic participation of the members, helped build a strong club. Activities varied and included going to a French play at UNC-G, eating at a French restaurant, participating in Foreign Language Week, and making plans to visit several foreign countries during the summer of '82.

Health Occupation Students of America

Health Occupation Students of America is a health careers club open to all Health Occupation students.

With sixty-one members and with sponsors, Carol Shuping and Elaine Ervin, the club was able to compete both on District, State, and National levels.

Child abuse, smoking and self-defense were only a few of the interesting programs presented this year. HOSA combined friends, knowledge, and fun to create a most enjoyable club. Community awareness was a vital part of this club.

Officers: Paula Jones, president; Bonnie Roberson, vice-president; Lora Karriker, secretary; Joan Strickland, treasurer; Sandra Cline, reporter; Linda Braswell, parliamentarian.

Officers: Becky Bradshaw, president; Gary Lipe, vice-president; Darrell Blackwell, treasurer; Julie Castor, secretary.

The Interact Club, sponsored by the China Grove Rotary Club, had the most members of any service club at South — sixty students — and accepted seniors, juniors and sophomores into membership. Candidates for membership must have good character and academics, leadership potential, and extracurricular activities in order to be selected by the club advisors and executive committee.

The club's projects must promote either school and community service or international understanding. This year's activities included participating in a CROP Walk for world hunger, donating plants for the school lobby during American Education Week, hosting various foreign exchange students, making school spirit posters for athletic events, putting up bulletin boards, sponsoring a rock-a-thon, conducting a fund-raising project, making an annual winter ski trip and having an end-of-year social.

Math Club

Solving math problems and learning different solutions were the special interests of the 1981-1982 Math Club. Their interests prompted them to visit Cannon Mills Data Processing Department, to sponsor the National Math Exam, and to participate in the Math Contest at UNC-C. Other activities included serving breakfast to the teachers during American Education Week, and raffling off a country ham to raise money for a second computer.

Officers: Lois Gray, president; Marsha DuVall, secretary; Donna Eidson, treasurer; Amy Clawson, vice-president.

Science Club

The Science Club was organized for people who have a special interest and quest for further knowledge in the scientific field. Although small in number, members enthusiastically participated in the National Energy Education Day. They also researched energy conservation and visited places of interest in order to further their knowledge in these fields.

Los Conquistadores

Los Conquistadores ("The Spanish Men"), open to all Spanish students, is one of the largest clubs on campus. The goal of the club is to promote an understanding of and appreciation for the Hispanic culture and heritage. The club participated in festivities and celebrations designed to accent the importance of the language and culture of Spain and Latin America.

The 1981-82 club planned a trip to Mexico, sponsored a child from Bolivia, and shared in Foreign Language Week. During this week they held a tea for the faculty and administration. Earlier they sold Advent Calendars as their fund-raising project.

VICA Club

VICA stayed active during the year by entering District and State Leadership and Skills contests. The elected officers were sent to the district leadership conference where they were trained in correct parliamentary procedures. Various projects were undertaken by the club several times during the year. Officers pictured above are Mark Goodman, student advisor; Neal Burgess, treasurer; Chip Gobble, vice-president; Brad Swink, reporter; Mike Kluttz, president; Alan Moore, secretary; Ray Stiller, parliamentarian.

Opposite: "I'll take care of your headache, Harry." Below: "Quiet! I'm working." Bottom: " ... and put this here ... "

Woodcrafter's Association was organized out of student interest in woodworking techniques. The primary goal of this club is to advance the school's atmosphere through service projects, to advance woodworking skills through personal discovery and development, and to enhance student's personal growth through organizational fellowship and team work.

An estimated thirty students regularly participated by meeting every Wednesday night. These students chose as a project the construction of a jewelry box. These were sold and the profits used for the funding of the Crafter's Association.

Again the doors close ending
another school year,
The memories that we made will
be held very dear.
The times that we shared passed
all too fast,
We yearn for the future while
cherishing the past.
Within these walls, our
background we laid.
With visions of hope, our way
we paved.

Time is the leader for all of our
tomorrows;
We eagerly face the future,
forgetting our sorrows.
Now we must face the future
ahead,
By giving and taking, yet not being led.
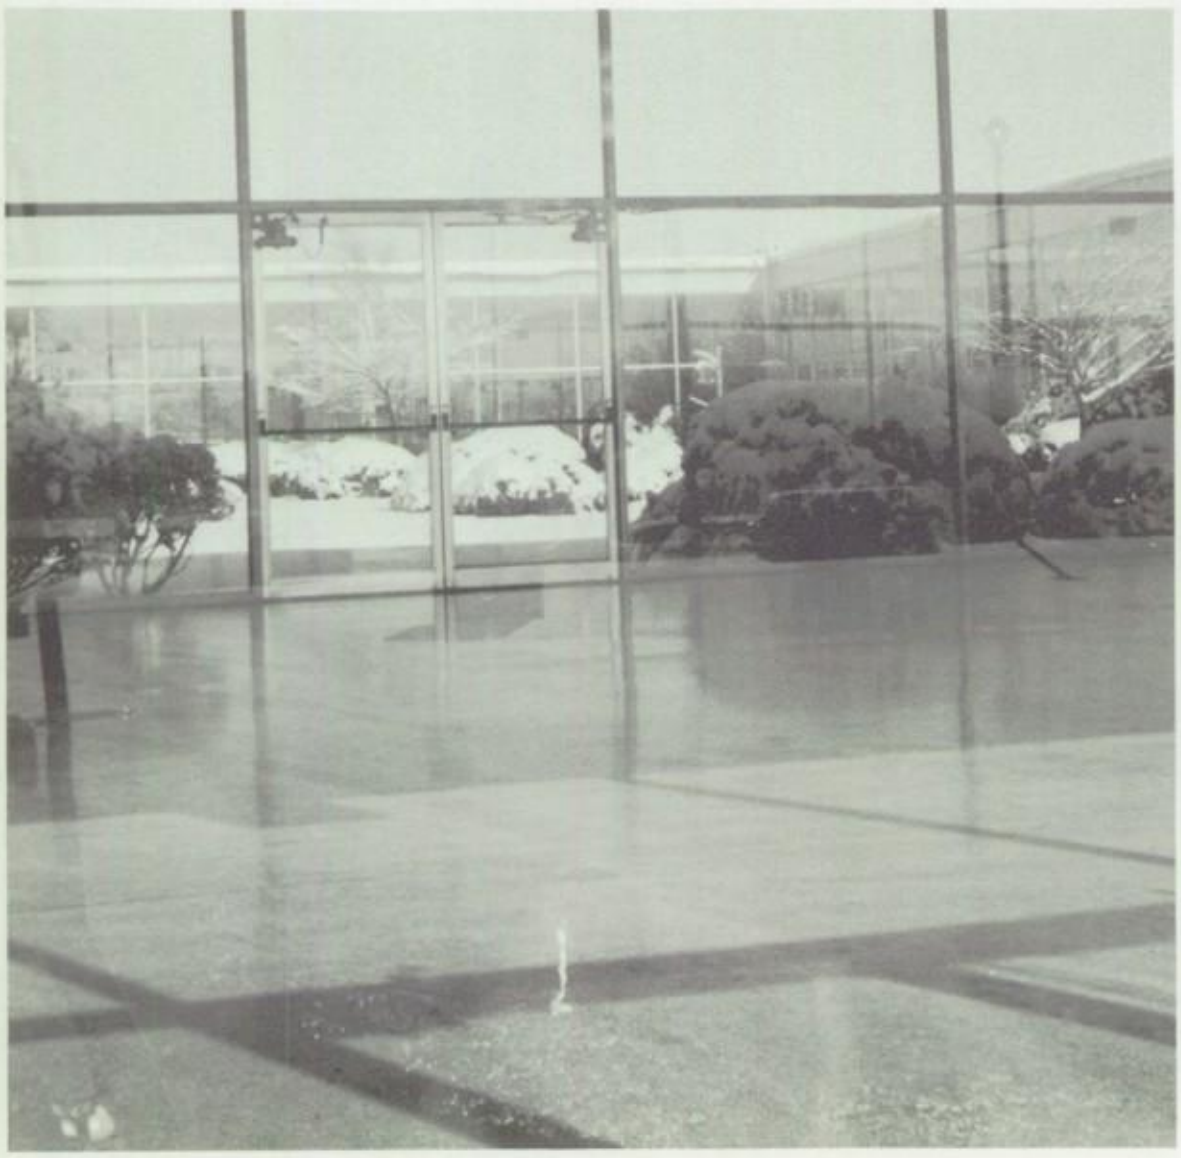
Yes, the doors will close on only
a moment of our lives,
For we continue to strive until
our destiny arrives.



This twenty-first edition of The Southerner has attempted to capture many of the memories and events that have happened within the walls of South Rowan. All of this would not have been possible without the cooperation, help, and support of many people. Our special thanks goes to the following:
